Biographical Sketch

James Clair Shaw was born in St. Paul, Minnesota on June 21, 1913 to Wade J. and Elizabeth G. Shaw. He graduated from Northwestern Military Preparatory Academy and with the class of 1936 at the U.S. Naval Academy. He was manager of the Academy football team, was a member of the Quarterdeck Society and on the Log staff.

After graduation from the Academy, he served in USS Northampton (CL 26) in the Pacific Fleet, in the USS Litchfield (DD 336) in Hawaii and in USS Stewart (DD 224) in the Asiatic Fleet. In 1941, he fitted out the USS Atlanta (CL 17) at Kearny, New Jersey, and remained with the ship until November 1942. He participated in sixteen campaigns in the Pacific, including the Battle of Midway, the landings in the Solomons, the Battle of Stewart Islands and the Battle of Guadalcanal where his ship went down and he was wounded. Subsequently, Shaw was hospitalized and returned to the United States in February 1943. For actions during the battle, he received the Silver Star, the Purple Heart, and the ribbon for the Presidential Unit Citation awarded to the Atlanta.

He joined the USS Bunker Hill (CV 17) as gunnery officer in March 1943 and returned to the Pacific Theater where the ship participated in the attack on Rabaul, the Bougainville landings, the invasion of the Gilberts and Marshalls, raids on Truk, Palau, the Marianas, Leyte and Luzon, the landings on Hollandia, the battle of the Philippine Sea, and raids in the Bonins, Saipan, Guam, Palau Islands, Japan, Iwo Jima, and Okinawa. He was awarded the Bronze Star, the Gold Star and the Presidential unit citation for these actions.

Shaw survived a plane crash and was hospitalized before entering the Naval War College in September 1945, where he was a member of the Command Class. From January to June 1946 he was flag secretary to the Commander, Fifth Fleet in Japan and on the west coast. He returned to Newport in July as a member of the faculty of the General Line School. Beginning in November 1947 and for the next three years, he worked with Rear Admiral Samuel E. Morison researching and writing the sixteen-volume The History of U.S. Naval Operations in World War II.

Shaw took command of USS Waldron (DD 699) in October 1950 and remained in this post until 1952 when he was assigned as Director, Current History Division, Office of Information, Navy Department. He spent six months in Hollywood as technical advisor for the movie The Caine Mutiny. His next assignment was as Director of the Planning Division of the Office of Information. Duty as naval and air attaché followed at The Hague, The Netherlands and Brussels, Belgium. In August 1957 he returned to the United States and served on the staff of the Commandant, Third Naval District, New York City until he retired on February 1, 1958.

Rear Admiral Shaw holds the China Service Medal, the American Defense Service Medal, Fleet Clasp, Asiatic-Pacific Campaign Medal, the American Campaign Medal, the World War II Victory Medal, the Navy Occupation Service Medal, Europe and Asia Clasps, the National Defense Service Medal and the Philippine Liberation Ribbon with one star. His clubs include the Army and Navy and Army and Navy Country Club, Washington, D.C. He was a member of the U.S. Naval Historical Foundation and U.S. Naval Academy Alumni Association.

Shaw died on December 4, 1988 at the age of seventy-four in Bellow Falls, Vermont. Prior to his death, he was New England Director of the Humane Society of the United States, which he had been affiliated with for twenty-five years.

DESCRIPTION OF PAPERS

The James C. Shaw Papers were presented to the Naval War College Foundation by his wife, Elizabeth Riley Shaw, in September 1989. The papers document his naval career from 1933 until his retirement in 1958. The collection consists of personal and official materials that include his years at the U.S. Naval Academy, his service during World War II, his naval commands, his contribution to Samuel Eliot Morison's The History of U.S. Naval Operations in World War II, his service as a naval attaché in The Netherlands, his work with the motion picture industry as a technical advisor to The Caine Mutiny, and his published and unpublished writings.

Series I, Biographical Information

- Series I contains official navy biographical data and autobiographical statements.

Series II, Correspondence

- Subseries I consists of official navy correspondence, 1939–1975. Letters sent, Subseries II, contains personal letters sent to his first wife, Jane Holt Shaw, and to his second wife, Elizabeth Riley Shaw as well as letters to Richard A. Holch while on a business trip for the Holch Corporation in 1962–1963. Subseries three contains personal letters received, many from Samuel Eliot Morison regarding his multi-volume work on the Navy in World War II and letters from publishers regarding Shaw's own writings.

Series III, Naval Orders and Documents, 1938–1955

- Items in this series are: naval orders, leave requests, change of duty, memoranda, a fitness report, and vouchers.

Series IV, Diaries and Journals, 1933–1949

- Of special interest in this series are Shaw's journals of his youngster cruise in 1933 and a second cruise in 1935 while at the Naval Academy. His notebooks, desk diary and a diary kept during the Breadloaf Writers' Workshop complete the series.

Series V, Speeches, Undated–1972

- Speech cards, outlines, and speeches given on Memorial Day and to the Humane Society are in this series as well as a speech by ADM William Standley to the U.S. Naval Academy Class of 1936.

Series VI, Writings, 1930–1975

- James Shaw was a prolific writer of both short stories and novels on naval, historical, and World War II themes. His articles appeared in the U.S. Naval Institute Proceedings from 1947 to 1956, and in True: The Man's Magazine. Drafts of a novel on Magellan and draft chapters on World War II battles are located here as well as screenplay and scripts for "The Caine Mutiny", "The Jarvis Story" and several navy films.

- Articles by John D. Hayes, Herbert Rosinski, Jim Zeld, Steven Fisher and Joseph D. Harrington are also in this series.

Series VII, Subject Files, 1902–1975

- The Shaw papers contain subject files on a number of topics, including programs and schedules for The Breadloaf Writers Conference, 1948–1949, that the admiral attended; Letters and genealogy of Admiral Robley D. Evans; articles, letters and photographs of The General Line School, Newport, RI; a commissioning program and reunion list from the USS Atlanta; copy of a commendation for the USS Birmingham; roster of officers, memorandum, letters, photographs and reunion information for the USS Bunker Hill; the ship's newspaper from the USS Northampton; a recommissioning program, photographs, letters, sent and received, memoranda, rosters, war record, newsletter and poems and guest lists for the USS Waldron; articles and newsletters from the Humane Society; and letters, sent and received, schedules, program, invitations and guest lists when Shaw was naval attaché at The Hague.

Series VIII, Miscellany, 1885–1976

- Miscellany contains a diverse collection of items, including travel brochures, citations, certificates, pamphlets, newspaper clippings, notes, rosters, poems, magazines, guest lists and invitations.

Series IX, Photographs, 1945–1957

- Photographs of Rear Admiral Shaw, Jane Shaw and Elizabeth Shaw, Admiral Arleigh Burke's visit to The Hague, the USS Waldron and USS Birmingham, The Belgian Congo, and several of the filming of The Caine Mutiny.

Series X, Papers of Elizabeth R.P. Shaw, 1950–2002

- Letters received, draft articles, and a draft manuscript of A Memoir of Love and Loss in World War II are located in this series.

Folio items

- Folio items include the general plans of the USS Waldron, newspapers clippings, and a list of military ribbons and medals.
