HISTORY OF THE U.S. NAVAL WAR COLLEGE

Founded in Newport, Rhode Island on October 6, 1884, the Naval War College is the oldest war college in the nation, and the first military service institution in the world to be designated a war college. Commodore Stephen B. Luce was the first president and organized the War College as "a place of original research on all questions relating to war and the statesmanship connected with war, or the prevention of war." These foundations were built upon by Captain Alfred Thayer Mahan, second president of the College, who had originally been selected by Luce to initiate the course in Naval History. Of all the men who were to influence the institution in its early years, none was to have a more profound impact. Mahan's views deeply affected such leaders as Henry Cabot Lodge and Theodore Roosevelt and through them and others helped shape the United States' destiny at the turn of the century. Mahan's writings, published as The Influence of Seapower Upon History, 1660-1783, gained him worldwide acclaim and established the Naval War College as an internationally respected institution.

Functioning continuously since 1884, except for brief periods during the Spanish-American War and World War I, the War College numbers among its graduates such distinguished naval officers as Admirals Sims, Spruance, King, Nimitz, and Halsey, in addition to many others who today are holding prominent military positions.

The work begun more than one hundred years ago by Luce and Mahan continues today. As graduates well know, the curriculum is both demanding and rewarding. For the military professional, the unique education provided by the Naval War College is unrivaled. In recognition of the academic rigor and educational excellence of its program, the Naval War College was accredited in 1991 by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges to award a Master of Arts Degree in National Security and Strategic Studies.

THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION AND REGALIA

For centuries, institutions of higher learning have dignified their ceremonies with an academic procession, a custom descending from the clerical procession. The procession is led by a marshal, followed by the student body and the academicians or faculty, attired in the robes prescribed for their respective degrees. Distinguished visitors and delegates follow the faculty, and last in the procession comes the president of the institution.

Each member of an academic procession ordinarily wears a cap, gown, and hood. In the procession today military faculty will not wear academic gowns. The earliest illustration of gowns worn at Oxford University somewhat resembles cassocks worn by English teachers who found good use for the hood, or cowl, as protection against the weather. A uniform American system of academic heraldry displays the level of degree, the field of study in which it was earned, and the institution by which it was granted.

It is the hood which provides academic regalia its color and offers the most information about its wearer. The silk lining of the hood bears the color, or colors, of the degree-granting college or university; its velvet facing reveals the color assigned to each area of study. The Bachelor's gown is relatively simple, falling in straight lines from an elaborate yoke and having pointed sleeves. The Master's gown is slightly more elaborate and fastens about the wrist. The Doctor's gown is marked by velvet panels down the front and around the neck, as well as by three bars of the same material on the well-shaped sleeves. It is cut more fully and may be ornamented. The hood worn is three feet in length for Bachelors, three and one-half feet for Masters, and four feet for Doctorates, with velvet trimming of two, three, and five inches in width respectively.

The edging, or facing, velvet of academic hoods indicates the area of study. The principal scholarly fields seen in the procession today include:

Philosophy	Dark Blue
Arts, Letters, Humanities	White
Business Administration	Light Brown
Economics	Copper
Engineering	Orange
Law	Purple
International Affairs/Public Administration	Peacock Blue

The American mortarboard, derived from the soft Oxford cap, is black. Its tassel, for holders of the bachelor's and master's degree, is usually black, while gold tassels are worn by holders of doctoral degrees and heads of institutions. The tassel is worn on the right side of the cap by undergraduates, on the left by holders of bachelor's and higher degrees.

THE HONORABLE PAT ROBERTS UNITED STATES SENATOR FROM KANSAS

A fourth generation Kansan, Senator Pat Roberts of Dodge City won election to the U.S. Senate in 1996 following retirement of Senator Nancy Kassebaum (Baker). He served eight terms in the House of Representatives from Kansas' First District. As Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, Senator Roberts led the 104th Congress to reform outdated federal farm policies. In the House, he also led successful congressional reforms of the House Bank and Post Office.

He is an advocate of strong health and education systems, free trade, increased investment in science and technology, focused foreign policy and a strong military — all of which keep Kansas competitive in today's rapidly evolving global marketplace. His legislative record underscores concern for Kansas communities, businesses and families. He is committed to preserving and protecting Social Security and Medicare and to ensuring Kansans have access to quality health care services at reasonable cost.

He is a member of the following committees: Health, Education, Labor and Pensions; Agriculture, Nutrition and Forestry; Armed Services; and Select Intelligence. He is Ranking Member of the Select Ethics Committee.

In addition to writing a sweeping reform of the federal crop insurance program last year, Senator Roberts led efforts to help America's agriculture producers and businesses gain leverage in world trade negotiations. He advocates a more cohesive and aggressive U.S. trade policy, calling for reform of unilateral sanctions and passage of "fast track" trade authority. Senator Roberts speaks out often on the need for free and fair trade policies.

Senator Roberts works to keep U.S. foreign policy focused on vital national interests. As the Ranking Member of the Emerging Threats and Capabilities Subcommittee, he plays a key role in ensuring that the United States is prepared to counter post-Cold War and terrorist threats to national security.

He fights to allow Americans to keep more of the dollars they earn. He has received numerous tax-cutting awards that include the Watchdog of the Treasury, Guardian of Small Business, Sound Dollar, Taxpayers' Friend and Taxpayer Hero

He works to increase Kansas' investment in math, science and technology, urging schools and universities to remain highly competitive.. Calling this focus "an investment in our future," Senator Roberts in 1996 established his blue-ribbon Advisory Committee on Science, Technology and the Future to advise him on Kansas' technology needs. He speaks often on the needs of higher education and research.

Born in Topeka April 20, 1936, Senator Roberts is the son of the late Wes Roberts, Chairman of the Republican National Committee under President Dwight Eisenhower. His great-grandfather, J.W. Roberts, founded the Oskaloosa Independent, the state's second oldest newspaper. Following graduation from Kansas State University in 1958, Senator Roberts served in the U.S. Marine Corps for four years, then worked as a reporter and editor for several Arizona newspapers. He joined the staff of Kansas Senator Frank Carlson in 1967. In 1969, Senator Roberts became Administrative Assistant to Kansas First District Congressman Keith Sebelius. Senator Roberts was elected to Congress in 1980, succeeding Sebelius upon his retirement.

REAR ADMIRAL RODNEY P. REMPT, U.S. NAVY PRESIDENT, NAVAL WAR COLLEGE

Rear Admiral Rempt was raised in the Los Angeles suburb of Van Nuys and graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy with the Class of 1966. He holds Masters Degrees in Systems Analysis from Stanford University and in National Security and Strategic Studies from the Naval War College. Initial assignments at sea included deployments to Vietnam aboard USS COONTZ (DLG-9) and USS SOMERS (DDG-34). His first sea command was USS ANTELOPE (PG 86), one of four missile-armed patrol gunboats homeported in Naples, Italy.

Rear Admiral Rempt commanded USS CALLAGHAN (DDG 994) during two WESTPAC/Indian Ocean deployments, and the USS BUNKER HILL (CG 52) homeported in Yokosuka, Japan. While on BUNKER HILL, Rear Admiral Rempt served for 18 months as the Anti-Air Warfare Commander (AAWC) for SEVENTH Fleet.

Duties ashore included three years in the Weapon Prototyping office of the Naval Sea Systems Command as the initial project officer for the MK 41 Vertical Launch system, on the CNO's Staff as Program Coordinator for the AEGIS Weapon System, as the Director of the PCO/PXO department at the Surface Warfare Officers Schools Command in Newport and as the Director, Anti-Air Warfare Requirements Division (OP-75) on the CNO's staff. Rear Admiral Rempt also worked in the Ballistic Missile Defense Organization (BMDO) where he initiated the development of Naval Theater Ballistic Missile Defense (TBMD) and then continued those efforts as Director, Theater Air Defense (N865) on the CNO's staff.

In July 1996 Rear Admiral Rempt assumed duties as Program Executive Officer, Theater Air Defense (PEO TAD), additionally serving as the U.S. Steering Committee Member for the NATO Seasparrow and Rolling Airframe Missile multi national programs. In May 1998 Rear Admiral Rempt was assigned as the first Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Theater Combat Systems where he was the principle advisor on the introduction of Naval TBMD and the development of advanced shipboard combat systems. In June 2000, Rear Admiral Rempt was assigned as the first Assistant Chief of Naval Operations for Missile Defense. In September of that year, Rear Admiral Rempt additionally relieved as Director, Surface Warfare (N76), responsible for all Surface Warfare people initiatives, ship programs and combat systems. He assumed duties as the 48th President of the Naval War College on 22 August 2001.

His personal awards include the Legion of Merit (Third award), the Meritorious Service Medal (Third award), and the Navy Commendation Medal (Third award with Combat "V").

UNITED STATES NAVAL WAR COLLEGE COAT OF ARMS

The wavy white and blue bars at the bottom of the shield represent water. The trident rising from it symbolizes mastery of naval activities. The three tines of the trident allude to an understanding of naval warfare at sea, in the air, and on land. The pilot wheel alludes to the mission of the Naval War College, education in naval warfare. The eight spokes refer to honor, duty, leadership, command, strategy, tactics, logistics, and weapons. The laurel wreath is for achievement of the mission. The motto is "Victory Through Sea Power."
