

Naval War College

Newport, Rhode Island

GRADUATION EXERCISE
9 NOVEMBER 2000

History of the U.S. Naval War College

Founded in Newport, Rhode Island on October 6, 1884, the Naval War College is the oldest war college in the nation, and the first military service institution in the world to be designated a war college. Commodore Stephen B. Luce was the first president and organized the War College as "a place of original research on all questions relating to war and the statesmanship connected with war, or the prevention of war." These foundations were built upon by Captain Alfred Thayer Mahan, second president of the College, who had originally been selected by Luce to initiate the course in Naval History. Of all the men who were to influence the institution in its early years, none was to have a more profound impact. Mahan's views deeply affected such leaders as Henry Cabot Lodge and Theodore Roosevelt and through them and others helped shape the United States' destiny at the turn of the century. Mahan's writings, published as The Influence of Seapower Upon History, 1660-1783, gained him worldwide acclaim and established the Naval War College as an internationally respected institution.

Functioning continuously since 1884, except for brief periods during the Spanish-American War and World War I, the War College numbers among its graduates such distinguished naval officers as Admirals Sims, Spruance, King, Nimitz, and Halsey, in addition to many others who today are holding prominent military positions.

The work begun more than one hundred years ago by Luce and Mahan continues today. As graduates well know, the curriculum is both demanding and rewarding. For the military professional, the unique education provided by the Naval War College is unrivaled. In recognition of the academic rigor and educational excellence of its program, the Naval War College was accredited in 1991 by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges to award a Master of Arts Degree in National Security and Strategic Studies.

Vice Admiral Arthur K. Cebrowski, USN
President, Naval War College

Vice Admiral Cebrowski, a native of Hasbrouck Heights, New Jersey became the 47th President, Naval War College in July 1998. He previously served as Director, Navy Space, Information Warfare, Command and Control (N6).

Vice Admiral Cebrowski has commanded Fighter Squadron 41 and Carrier Air Wing EIGHT, both embarked in USS NIMITZ (CVN 68). He later commanded the assault ship USS GUAM (LPH 9). During Operation Desert Storm, he commanded the aircraft carrier USS MIDWAY (CV 41). Following promotion to flag rank, he became Commander, Carrier Group SIX and Commander, AMERICA Battle Group.

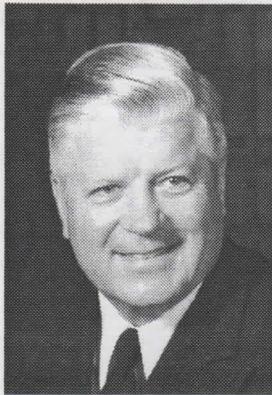

In addition to combat deployments to Vietnam and the Persian Gulf, he has deployed in support of United Nations operations in Iraq, Somalia and Bosnia. He has flown multiple aircraft, principally fighters, from several aircraft carriers and deployed to all ocean areas.

His tours of duty have included service with the US Air Force; the staff of Commander-in-Chief, Atlantic Fleet; the staff of the Chief of Naval Operations on four occasions; and with the Joint Staff as the J6.

Vice Admiral Cebrowski holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Mathematics from Villanova University and a Master of Science degree in Computer Systems Management from the Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey, California. He has been a member of the CNO's Strategic Studies Group and a Federal Executive Fellow at the Council on Foreign Relations.

His personal decorations include the Defense Distinguished Service Medal, the Distinguished Service Medal, five awards of the Legion of Merit, Bronze Star, two Meritorious Service Medals, ten Air Medals, and two Navy Commendation Medals with Combat "V." He is also the 1991 winner of the John Paul Jones Award for Inspirational Leadership.

He and his wife Kathryn reside in Newport, Rhode Island. They have two daughters, Kristin Marie and Julie Anne.

Admiral Harry D. Train II, U.S. Navy (Ret.)
Former NATO's Supreme Allied Commander, Atlantic

Admiral Train is a member of the United States Commission on National Security/21st Century, also known as the Hart-Rudman Commission.

He serves on the Board of Trustees of the Institute for Defense Analyses, a Federally Funded Research and Development Center and sits on the National Board of Directors of the American Cancer Society.

He is also a Senior Fellow at the Joint and Combined Warfare Course at the Armed Forces Staff College and a Mentor for the Defense Science Studies Group.

During the four years prior to his retirement from active duty in the United States Navy, Admiral Train served as: NATO's Supreme Allied Commander, Atlantic; as Commander-in-Chief U.S. Atlantic Command (before its transformation to the Joint Forces Command); and as Commander-in-Chief U.S. Atlantic Fleet.

His prior operational commands included: command of the U.S. SIXTH Fleet in the Mediterranean; command of the John F. Kennedy Battle Group; command of Cruiser-Destroyer Flotilla EIGHT; command of the guided missile destroyer CONYNGHAM; and command of the attack submarine BARBEL.

His principal staff duties have included assignments as: Director of the Joint Staff; Director of the Systems Analysis Division of the Navy Staff; Director of the East Asia-Pacific Region in the Office of the Secretary of Defense; Executive Assistant to the Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff; Executive Assistant to the Chief of Naval Operations; Administrative Aide to the Secretary of the Navy; and Assistant Military Secretary, J2, the Joint Staff.

He is a 1949 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy and a 1956 graduate of the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, California. He was appointed to and served full terms as a member of the Curriculum Advisory Board of the U.S. Naval Academy; the Academic Advisory Board of the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School; and the Board of Academic Advisors of the NATO Defense College in Rome.

He was the first Professor of Military Professionalism in the Henry Clay Hofheimer Chair of Military Professionalism, Armed Forces College in Norfolk.

UNITED STATES NAVAL WAR COLLEGE COAT OF ARMS

The wavy white and blue bars at the bottom of the shield represent water. The trident rising from it symbolizes mastery of naval activities. The three tines of the trident allude to an understanding of naval warfare at sea, in the air, and on land. The pilot wheel alludes to the mission of the Naval War College, education in naval warfare. The eight spokes refer to honor, duty, leadership, command, strategy, tactics, logistics, and weapons. The laurel wreath is for achievement of the mission. The motto is "Victory Through Sea Power."
